The George Mentzers

easy methods now available for copying papers were unknown in 1934, the notes made of the contents of the will or of other records could have been incomplete or some of them lost on the way to the editor-publisher-printer. Whatever may have been the cause of the omission of some names, it does not rule out any of the previously given information about George (1727-1800) and Christina (1736-1820) Mentzer.
